UNDERSTANDING THE ADDRESS/ACCESS DATA

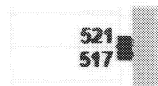

Single-unit Structure.

- Access points are placed according to property boundary data obtained from AtlaLIS, used under license.
- Points represent approximate access location, not the structure location.
- Addresses confirmed by on-site visual inspection at the time of map updates.
- Only those properties with a structure at the time of the most recent map update will have the access points visible; vacant lots will have no access point.
- Address Number will be labeled perpendicular to the street from which it is addressed.

Single-unit Structure, with access point off intersecting street.

- Points represent approximate access location, not the structure location.
- Address Number will be labeled perpendicular to the street from which it is addressed. In this example, the structure is addressed off the North-South street, but is accessed off the East-West street.

Duplex Structure

- Access points are paired together to represent the duplex structure and are placed on the common property boundary.
- Points represent approximate access location, not the structure location.

Multi-unit Structure.

- When possible, property boundaries representing condominium or apartment outlines are used. Otherwise, basic shapes are used for reference purposes.
- Access points represent approximate locations of each unit within the multi-unit structure.
- If the multi-unit structure has a name, the name will be labeled as well.
